Elderwood Health Plan

Elderwood Health Plan provides an array of home support services for individuals who are determined Medicaid eligible with a chronic illness or disability and in need of long-term care services for more than 120 days. Access to needed services and help to manage home care is assured. Members keep their own doctors, as well as Medicaid, Medicare or Part D coverage, if they have it. Depending on income, there may be a Medicaid spend-down to enroll.

Elderwood Health Plan is a Managed Long-Term Care Plan

The main goal of managed long-term care is to help you or a loved one stay at home as long as possible. It gives members the care needed to do daily activities that may no longer be manageable without help. Elderwood Health Plan provides medical, personal and social services. Managed long-term care plans provide long-term care services, like home health and nursing home care, and ancillary and ambulatory services like dentist or optometry services. Members get services from their primary care physicians and inpatient hospital services using their Medicaid and/or Medicare cards.
